

When a threatening situation develops, having eyes on the site can mean the difference between a minor inconvenience and a significant loss which is why The Alarm Guy now offers off-site monitoring.

Protecting your property with a prepared response team could mean the difference between a minor inconvenience and a major loss.

Through the integration of alarm systems and CCTV, the Alarm Guy effectively creates a virtual presence on-site, ready to visually verify the alarm and assess the situation before alerting the relevant response team. Monitored off-site, 24- hours a day - there's also no risk of interference, intimidation or collusion.

Partnering with the best to bring you the best.

Our monitoring partner, Omnivision has a national client base which includes commercial and high-end residential clients. They process more than 15 000 alarms a week and safeguard property for clients like Nampak Glass in Johannesburg and Frozen Foods in Cape Town.

Off-site Interactive Monitoring

Our 24-hour control room is manned by skilled operators who have a bird's-eye view of your property, ensuring that no suspicious activity goes undetected. Response teams are fully informed and prepared before arriving on-site and ready to adhere to any agreed upon protocols. Our different monitoring options and services include:

- Alarm-based activations
- Video analytics activations
- Gate monitoring
- On-site Audio challenge

"Dear all,

We wanted to express how happy we are with your services. You are super professional, always on time, calling/emailing in a very good way. Total feel for when to do so etc. Gives us a high feeling of security. We are not used to your service level and ambition and appreciate it highly.

Please continue all your good work.

Best Regards,

Marie & Carl"

Conclusion

This proposal offers one of the most comprehensive security solutions on the market, built on a technologically advanced monitoring platform and run by an expert team, 100% committed to service excellence.

The 10 Second Rule.

93% of our alarms are acknowledged by an operator within 10 seconds, so our "eyes" are swiftly on-site to assess the situation and determine the appropriate response.

Our clients can rely on the fact that there will be eyes on site should someone make an attempt on their property or assets.

So what can you expect to pay for a service like this ? We have broken down the pricing into categories below. The prices are for the average home. Larger security estates will be quoted on separately.

Monitoring on Alarm Activation.

Traditional alarm systems and existing beam configurations are seamlessly integrated into our monitoring services. Our intelligent software tracks the source of the alarm and activates the corresponding camera so that we're able to quickly assess the situation and take the appropriate action.

Monitoring on Gate Opening and Closing.

With camera systems focused on gates, our control room can monitor the safe entry and exit of anyone arriving at or leaving the premises. Any kind of suspicious activity automatically triggers a response without any input needed from the home owner.

Monitoring on Video Analytics.

Here we use advanced algorithms for real time analysis of video. Cameras positioned in operational areas at high risk trigger 'live-view' monitoring in our control room when activated. With this pro-active approach, potential threats are swiftly assessed and dealt with.
